

The Wayne State University Commission on the Status of Women's Gender & Equity Committee invites you to a discussion on:

WOMEN NEGOTIATING RACIAL & CULTURAL DIFFERENCES IN THE WORKPLACE

MARCH 28, 2012 - 11:45AM - 1:00PM
HILBERRY A/B, STUDENT CENTER

With all the challenges women face in the modern workforce how do race and culture add to the equation? How are misunderstandings with colleagues successfully negotiated? How is a climate of mutual respect cultivated? Join us as our group of panelists share their personal experiences and answer questions about the role that race, faith, and sexuality can play in women's professional lives.

Moderator:

Regan Rodriguez, Program Coordinator, Library Computing & Media Services

Panelists:

Alia Allen, Academic Services Officer, Department of Psychology

Kelli E. Dixon, Director, Study Abroad and Global Programs

Kimberly Ann Sacks, Equal Opportunity Specialist

Soraya Satchee, Lecturer, Classical and Modern Languages, Literatures, and Cultures

Students, staff, faculty and managers are encouraged to attend this brown bag lunch event. Refreshments will be provided.

Make your reservation at pipeline.wayne.edu by March 26, 2012. This is an interactive event, so questions are encouraged! Attendees are invited to submit questions ahead of time, if preferred, to wsucosw@wayne.edu.
