WAYNE WOMEN LEAD

CULTIVATING A "SPEAK UP" CULTURE ON CAMPUS

An Introduction to Tools for Constructive
Advocacy and Cooperative Problem Solving

Bring your lunch and join us while Dawn Osborne-Adams, ombudsperson for Shell Oil and Binghamton University, introduces and explores the core skills needed to constructively manage conflict, solve problems and advocate for self and others. Using an interactive format, we will consider the ways in which constructive and cooperative approaches empower individuals to speak up in service to themselves, the institution and the campus community.
